Having begun his financial services career in 1974, initially joining the staff of the Office of the Comptroller of the Currency (OCC), a federal bank regulator, Mr. Roederer joined Salin Bank and Trust Company in 1999 as the senior investment professional.

For more than 30 years, Mr. Roederer has had the opportunity to participate in some of the most sophisticated, often quantitative, techniques that are applied to investment management.

Mr. Roederer believes that to control risk and add value to client portfolios, the most advanced, yet proven, ideas must be applied. This is an ever evolving and continuing process. He also oversees the trust group's operations area.
